When Grandma Was Ready For Winter

When the last green tomato was pickled,
And the last blushing peach had been peeled;
When the last luscious pear had been quartered,
And the last can of plums had been sealed;
When the last yellow quince had been honeyed,
And the last drop of chilli sauce jugged;
When the last stalk of cane had been sorghumed,
And the last barrel of vinegar plugged;
When the grape juice was all corked and bottled,
Corn made into salad, or dried;
When the beets and the apples were buried,
And the sied-meat and sausages fried;
When the catsup was made, and the sauerkraut,
And potatoes were stored in the bin;
When the peppers were stuffed full of cabbage,
And the pumpkins were all carried in;
When the flower-seeds were gathered and packaged,
And the house-plants were potted and in;
When the fruit cakes were baked for Thanksgiving,
And the mincemeat was canned up in tin,
The celery blanched and nuts gathered,
And the beans had been shelled out and hulled;
Sweet potatoes drykilned in the oven,
And the onions were pulled up and culled;
When the honey had all been extracted,
Comb melted, and beeswax in molds;
When the jellies were all glassed and labeled,
And the horehound juice syruped for colds;
When the tallow was made into candles,
And the ashes were leached into lye;
When the rushes were bundled for scouring,
And the walnut-hulls gathered for dye;
When the cheeses were unhooped and ripened,
Beef corned in the brine to be dried;
Hams and shoulders well browned in the smoke-house,
Lard rendered from cracklings, and tried;
When the popcorn was tied to the rafters,
And the wood was piled high in the shed;
When the feathers from goose and from gander
Were picked for the warm feather bed;
Women folk were most ready for winter,
To rest as they knitted and sewed,
Spun flax, carded wool, and pieced quilt blocks;
Is it strange grandma's shoulders are bowed?

1918 Henry Denning expressed his desire to see the family more earnest

in their meeting together that a more complete record could be kept that will be a pleasure to us in later years that the Grandchildren of Grandpa Williams would be kept familiar with his memory. and also the names and memories of Jane E. Williams and Mary Jones Williams, their grandmas. that they may know the things that they sacrificed that their children might live in Zion and be free,

This he told me while on the way to the ranch the day after the reunion and since he has passed to the great beyond to receive the reward which he has merited I thought it well to write what he told me. We shall miss his presence as does his family miss husband and father. We extend our sympathy to them.

James Henry Denning leaves a large family to mourn his absence and to honor his name. May God bless and protect them.

"We all join in paying a tribute of love and respect to John Mulder who has paid the supreme sacrifice for his country's sake and who lies buried somewhere in France. May we all remember to speak a kind word to his little children, May and Jack, and remember the nice songs and pleasant company he gave to help make our reunions a success and also Victoria Richardsen Mulder has been called home since our last meeting. She died 16 Feb 1918 at her mother's home on Deep Creek. She was always cheerful and had a smile for all. We miss her and feel sorry she had to suffer so long. She had cancer but was hopeful and cheerful to the last. May God comfort her parents and bless and protect her little ones.

Another death has occurred since our last meeting and that was Riley Denning. He has met with us several times and was good company and helped all to have a good time.

There is another name that appears on our minutes and that is William W. Williams a cousin, was taken with the Flu. He died in the prime of life, left a sweet little wife, Pearl Williams. He was loved and respected by all and had a good time with us when he met with us. We extend our sympathy to his beloved wife.

We join in tendering our love and sympathy to the wife and children of Philip Denning. He met with us in 1913. He suffered greatly for many years.

It was in the year of 1864
This nation gave birth to a child we adore
While we watched all her movements through childhood's estate,
We recall the day she chose her a mate.
Twas this turn in life her sacrifice came
When she swapped off her Williams for the Evans name.
To this new departure in wedlock through life she has filled every call as mother and wife so we are here to day full of joy and cheer
To celebrate your birth on your sixtyth year.
May your days be many, all your troubles subdued
And all that is good we welcome for you.
So now Mary Ellen with your noble past
Make safe for your future while life doth last
May each hour, each day sing loves old sweet song
Until Heaven's redeemer comes strolling along.

The life of John J Williams

John Jones Williams, son of Daniel and Ruth Jones Williams was born in Black Thorn (Llandilorfan) Breconshire South Wales 12 Aug 1823. His childhood days were spent with his parents on the farm, when he was sixteen he went as an apprentice to learn the Blacksmith trade. It took 7 years. He took a great deal of interest and was very proficient as a tradesman. He was looked up to as the best workman in his line. He was called an ideal Blacksmith. He excelled in doing several pieces of fine work. In early days here in Malad men used to say "If they had a technical piece of work, if John Williams cannot do it then the rest don't need to try."

He was fair complectioned with blue eyes and black hair, his height was 5 ft 7 in. after blacksmithing so long he became stooped so that he didn't appear as tall as he really was. Grandmother Jones made her home with him and his wife for 13 years and he was always kind and thoughtful of her. He was a man of his word, considered his word his bond. He was converted to the Gospel of Jesus Christ and was baptised in 1850. (11 Feb 1850 by Jonathan Thomas and confirmed by him the same day). He was keeping company with a young girl and was engaged to marry her but when he became a Mormon she didn't like it and they broke the engagement. He would not give up the belief he had in the Gospel. Later he married Jane Merrifield. they were married in 1852 Feb 14. Eleven children blessed their union, six living at this date.

They sailed 25 Feb 1853 on the ship International, and on 28 Feb 1853 (On the Irish channel) a daughter was born, her name is Elvira Williams Harrison. They were six weeks crossing the sea and there was a large company on board with them. among those we are interested in were James Denning and wife and a baby boy James Henry Denning who later married Rosanna Williams.

They later crossed the plains by ox teams and endured many hardships such as standing guard to prevent attacks of Indians, making roads, building bridges, herding cattle, fording streams. John J Williams was captain of 20 teamsters, did the blacksmithing for the entire company. He traveled in Christopher Arthur's Co. arriving in Salt Lake City in Oct 1853. Settled in Brigham City Box Elder county. Was one of the pioneers of that section of country. Endured great hardships, especially in the winter and spring of 1855-56 on account of scarcity of flour and other provisions.

I remember him telling that they needed food so badly that they killed an ox that was too poor to get up, but they boiled the meat, drank the broth and in that way sustained life and they were thankful to get it. What wheat they had was either boiled whole or crushed and they used bran and all. In the spring they dug segoes which grew large and sweet and were plentiful and they felt that the Lord blessed them with the segoes to keep them from starvation, and they got along fine. I

In March 6 1857 he married Mary Jones and with them 13 children were born. Eight are now living. He followed blacksmithing all his life. He also did some farming. He had a great liking for taking care of fruit trees. He did some grafting and pruning. He had a tree with 11 different kinds of apples on it at the same time. It was in the lot that R. J. Harding now owns. He had a great many bees at one time and worked considerably with them the latter part of his life. It was in 1865 that he and his family moved to Malad, sold his property in Brigham city and took his cattle, but owing to the long hard winter and not being prepared with hay, he lost heavily. Then the grasshoppers came and took everything. They weren't left a grist and they had to go to Cache Valley for flour to last until another season. He built a sawmill but did not do very well with that. He did a great deal for the public. If there was ever a donation asked, he always tried to do his share and he furnished the money for two Brothers and their families to come to this country. He considered it a great blessing to pay tithing, help the poor, help build temples and always tried to do all he could and help every cause along.

In church organization he held the office of High Priest. was counselor to Bishop Daniels, was President of the Teachers Quorum and Elders Quorum. Was an enthusiastic church worker. Attended Sunday School quite regularly, always wanted his children to take advantage of schooling because he did not have that chance but he was a fairly good reader and could figure very accurately.

He was a kind husband and father, was always kind to widows and orphans. May his descendents emulate his good qualities. He was as honest as the day is long.

He died 10 Jan 1899, was buried in St John cemetery.

This sketch was written by his daughter Rosanna W Denning in 1911 Aug 12.

PS. In 1889 he was sent to Detroit Penitentiary for 10 months for having two wives. Which marriages he entered believing that through the Priesthood of God, he would receive a higher degree of glory by obeying that principle of plural marriage.

The officers treated him very kindly although it aged him very much. He looked 20 years older when he came home from there.

Was counselor to Bishop George Stuart for some time 1888.

12 Aug 1928 the annual reunion of John J Williams was fittingly held by the family at Lava Hot Springs. Most of the families were on the grounds at 11 A M. Every one busily prepared the luncheon so dinner was served to 158 about 2:30 PM. A meeting was called in one part of the park, with Thomas Oliver Williams in charge, after transacting business and reading minutes of our last reunion. A short talk was given by Rosanna Denning She stated that she had surely felt pleased to meet so many of the relatives, said she hoped the reunion would always be held, that nothing would prevent us, they will prove to be a source of satisfaction to us in years to come. Mary Ellen Evans spoke for a short time. Said she remembered father saying many times that the time would come when war would be fought from the air and it would be more deadly than on land and she thought he was just guessing about it, but now it is here and the papers and magazines are talking about it very commonly. She also said she had enjoyed herself in meeting the ones who had come from the different places. She also told a story that all enjoyed. 56

Thomas S Thomas of St John spoke a short time, also read a poem he had composed for our reunion in honor of father. As follows.

Just now my mind is wandering back over sixty years I've strove,
To where my first acquaintance made with the honorable John Williams the Gove,
He was then a sturdy soul, without a thought of fear,
He came from Wales, to help blaze the trails,
A most valient pioneer. (Gove means blacksmith in Welsh)

So when he chose his life's abode
His ventures said Malad,
And thus he strove as John the Gove,
Like a hustling mountain lad.

I can hear the clink of his hammer and tongs,
While his brow with sweat trickled down
Twas thus he met fate with true valor sedate,
Today we worship his crown.

Sec. Victoria Davis.

Men like him make the world move on,
Give life to earthly souls
So when death's call comes
And this life he must depart
He has tallies in all life's goals. 57

We see today by this grand display
What his noble work hath done,
So emulate his noble traits,,
And all God's gifts you've won.

In memory of John Uriah Williams, one of the eldest members of our family. He was born at Cottonwood Utah 9 Jan 1855. Died at Malad 15 Aug 1928, buried at St. John Cemetery 18 Aug 1928. He was married to Margaret Pugh 10 Nov 1879. There was born to this union three sons: John B Williams, Henry Pugh-W- Pugh Williams, Calvin Williams. Calvin died a babe in arms.

Brother John was a very independent turn of mind and wanted everything done exactly right. In his Bee culture, gardening, raising chickens or anything he did, it was done the best that he could do. Up to a short time before his death he kept his house clean and did his own cooking. When his son John and wife wanted him to go and live with them he replied, "No, I'll live by myself, thank you."

We will meet but we will miss him. There will be another vacant chair. We express our love and sympathy to his family, and trust they will emulate his many fine qualities.

Paper Clipping----- Noted Idahoan Dies at Malad----- David L. Evans, Native of Utah, Closes Eventful Career.----- Malad.-- David L Evans, Malad valley pioneer of 1869, merchant, banker and man of public affairs in Idaho for almost half a century, died at the family residence in Malad Friday morning. At the time of his death Mr. Evans was president of the J.W. Ireland bank of this city and director in several other banks and business enterprises of this section of the state.

Mr Evans was born at Brigham City, Utah, in 1854, and, with his widowed mother and two younger brothers, came to Malad in 1869. He taught school for a number of years and in 1884 he took the management of the Malad Cooperative store, which was the start of an exceptionally successful business career.

In 1891 he helped organize the J.W. Ireland bank and had been president of that institution most of the time since. Mr Evans also assisted in the organization of 10 other banks in this state and was one of the organizers of the Idaho State Life Ins. Co. In addition to his banking and mercantile interests, Mr. Evans held extensive agricultural and livestock holdings.

Most of the time that Mr. Evans was a resident of Malad he had been a member of the Malad school board and also served as a member of the state educational commission. He devoted a great portion of his time to the advancement of education.

Mr Evans was elected to the legislature of Idaho five times, serving three terms in the house and two in the Senate. His first term was in the session of 1882, when he was 28 yrs. old. In order to reach Idaho's capital at that time it was necessary to go from Malad to Ogden by stage, from Ogden to Kelton by train and from Kelton to Boise by stage. Mr. Evans was speaker of the House 1 term.

Since 1894 Mr Evans had attended every Democratic convention held in Oneida County and every State Demo. convention in Idaho and also attended four national Demo. conventions. He was a presidential elector in 1896 and declined his party's nomination for governor.

In 1881, Mr Evans was married to Miss Emily Mechem of Riverdale, Ida. who died in 1883. Two years later he was married to Miss Mary Ellen Williams of Malad. Mr. Evans is survived by a widow, one daughter, Mrs Emily Evans Foss of Preston, Ida. and one son, D.L. Evans of Malad. Mr Evans was a member of the Masonic lodge of Malad. Funeral services will be held at the stake tabernacle /Sunday at 2 P.M. (Salt Lake Tribune)

In memory of David L. Evans. In as much as another member of the family has been called from this stage of action we wish to express our deepest sympathy to his wife and family. His passing is felt by nearly everybody. He was always ready to give advice and help his fellowmen. He believed in giving to the world the best he had. He lived an exemplary life and was a credit to the state and nation. When we think of the many fine things he stood for we feel like saying with the poet. Lives of great men never die, but their good deeds live on and on. Very impressive services were held in the stake Tabernacle, which was crowded to capacity. The beautiful floral offerings spoke volumes of the kindnesses he had done through life.

David L Evans was born in Brigham City 20 May 1854. Died at Malad City 12 July 1929. Buried at Malad 14 July 1929.

 Where things are beautiful they say,
 That place is not so far from you
 Where "happy she is with loved ones too."
 Cause good she lived as mother and wife
 Keeping laws to inherit eternal life
 These laws revealed in this latter day
 To aid all in choosing the narrow way"
 Twas here she came without a fear
 In 1887 as a young pioneer; //2
 Iona was then a sage brush land
 Arriving here with a willing hand
 she helped this place blossom as a rose
 With beauty now, wherere one goes.

Many times her talents she freely gave
 And numerous lives she helped to save
 Assisting mothers in times of birth
 A multitude can testify of her worth.
 Another step forward she had gone
 For our dear Lord has called her on
 A mission in that beautiful place
 Where she shall meet him face to face.
 So think of her now in a peaceful land

Poverty (this little poem was recited at an early reunion by Sarah Jane Lewis.)

I know they say it's poverty,
It may be, of a kind,
I haven't much that looks like wealth;
But I don't seem to mind.

For roses bloom around my door,
And as far as I can see
Trees and flowers are everywhere
And Robins sing to me;

And one day as I wrote my lines
I had a taste of bliss
A child peeked in my open door
And wafted me a kiss,

And I can hear and laugh and feel
And think and talk and see,
And walk a mile of Highland
So it can't be poverty.

(continued from bottom of page) to the family and friends. May God bless and comfort them. There were a number of beautiful tributes paid to his memory.

LIKE UNTO A TREE

The trees in a forest all look alike, yet each one is different. Their branches all reach upwards towards the sun, yet each branch differs from all others. The leaves, at least all of those on a particular tree, look much the same, yet each one is distinctive in its own way.

We see so many of the older trees fall, leaving an empty space among the younger trees around it. So it is with an organization or a family. The passing years take their toll. We are close to the last of the connecting links, to the generation of power. To them it was always a great dream-- a dream of an organization that would survive through generations to come. It is that "LIKE UNTO A TREE". analogy which fully summarizes their life-time and gives inspiration for the younger generation who must follow along the trail they blazed.

With organizations as with trees, life itself is a matter of striving, finding in the striving itself a reason for being. "Every Good Tree Bringeth Forth Good Fruit." So it has been for the original fourteen Williams brothers and sisters, who organized the Williams Reunion. This group was organized to honor three great pioneers who loved God and life so much that these-w they suffered great hardships that those who were to follow might have the greatest treasure on earth, Freedom of Religion.

It was their religious faith, and the fact that they embraced the gospel and were strong enough to leave their native land for it and to carve homes here in the west as pioneers which made it possible for all of us to be born on this continent and in the comfortable conditions we find here.

To-day there are many here about my age--if they will admit their age, who are about the age of the Williams Brothers and sisters when they set about to organize this reunion. I know the love which was nurtured in this wonderful family, (there were not many worldly riches) but very few families in this world have had the rich and everlasting love for one another that this family has enjoyed.

It is my hope and prayer that each one of us will always remember their love for each other and for each of us, and remember our duty to the memory and source of this organization, Never let us lose sight of the greater organization which was the inspiration of it all. We should be ever mindful of our church and the testimonies of our ancestors. In closing I-would-like, to say that an organization is LIKE UNTO A TREE is to pay it a high tribute for it places it on the side of life, and growth and God.

Dear Sister Polson:

A preliminary survey has been conducted on your Welsh ancestry and the following is a report of our findings:

1. A search made of the Temple Records Index Bureau disclosed that Mary Jones (born 1837), Thomas Jones (born 1799) and Ruth Thomas (born 1805 or 1807) received their endowments during life at the Salt Lake Endowment House. Endowment cards for earlier ancestors could not be immediately found due partly to the frequent occurrence of such names as James Jones and John Thomas in our records. An endowment card was found for a Possus Juna Thomas whose ordinance work was performed in 1925 in the Logan Temple at the instance of her grandson William Thomas Jones. ? // PossJuna Thomas is a woman so there is obviously a mistake here//

A search was then made in our Church Records Archives to determine if anyone has submitted information pertaining to your ancestry. Nothing was found in the main Archives, however, in the Patrons Section of the Archives a pedigree chart was found listing your ancestry only to Thomas Jones and Ruth Thomas. This record was submitted in 1930 by a Hans E. Olaveson of Menan, Idaho. Some additional information had been added to the sheet by Laveda Williams.

2. The following are recommendations for continued research/

A. Logan Temple records of baptisms for the dead performed on 10th Mar 1885 and on 16 June 1925 should be examined for any additional information they may provide. You mention having searched the Logan Temple Records yourself. Can you tell us on which dates you searched and whether they are baptisms or endowments?

B. Searches should be made in the Library of the Church Historians Office in the following sources for information about the family: British Mission Emigration Records, Partial Membership Records, Patriarchal Blessings, newspaper obituary notices.

C. Following is information concerning records of the localities from which your ancestors came:

(1) Llansawell, registers commence 1751. Christenings and burials, 1751 to 1791, and marriages 1751 to 1795 have been microfilmed and are available at our Library. Bishop's Transcripts ~~1675 to 1857~~ 1675 to 1857 and LDS Branch records have been microfilmed and are available ~~at~~ at this Library. Mynydd-Bache Chapel, a Protestant Dissenters group in that area, have registers of marriages, baptisms and burials along with other miscellaneous information for the period 1650 to 1794. Some years are missing. This has been microfilmed and is available at our Library.

(2) The places Cadwgan Caio, Craigybar Caio and Llangofuarth could not be located in our gazetteers, geographical keys and histories of Carmarthenshire.

(3) Llandilo'rFane. The registers commence 1770. Bishop's Transcripts 1714 to 1845 have been microfilmed and are available in our Library.

(4) Tyr Abbott. Bishop's Transcripts 1807 to 1848 have been microfilmed and are available at our Library.

(5) D. If you desire, members of your family who reside near Salt Lake City may search the microfilmed records in our Library with the supervision of your researcher. However, before these searches commence certain birth, marriage and death certificates and census records may have to be found in England. Should you care to have these recommendations followed, a further remittance of $50.00 should be deposited with this office. We will retain your material until we hear from you.

You mentioned in the letter to us of 26th June last that you have a little history of Llansawel. It would be greatly appreciated if you would forward this to us and allow us to photocopy it and return it to us-and you. Our Library has a companion copy to this book entitled "The History of Caio" by Fred S. Price, published in Swansea, 1904.

It is a pleasure to assist you.

Sincerely, GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

MALAD'S FIRST FLOUR MILL WAS CONSTRUCTED IN 1867
(By Gwenfred J. Crowther)

In the spring of 1867 a group of the pioneers of the Malad Valley met and came to the conclusion that a flour mill was of vital importance to the community. They checked the possible locations and the various streams as a possibility of water power running the mill and doing the grinding, of the wheat. After making a survey, they found that by turning the Cherry Creek which was then running into the Marsh Valley, and combining it with the streams now known as Devil Creek on the Malad Valley side, it would be possible to use the water power for running a grist mill and also for a saw mill, which was greatly needed for the production of lumber for the building of homes and public places.

John Nelson became interested and directed the building of the flour mill. He secured the necessary machinery, including an overshot water wheel and the necessary ditches and flumes for the power. John J. Williams surveyed the ditch for diverting the stream over the Malad divide and used a common spirit level, the only surveying equipment available at that time. He was assisted by such men as Dan Daniels, James E. Jones, William Williams, William Gualter and others.

John Nelson was owner for four or six years, then a cooperative milling company was formed and he sold the flour mill to them in 1873. John J. Williams, John W. Lusk, and John Price, were the officers of this milling company.

They operated the mill until 1877, then they sold to the Malad Co-Operative Company on account of extra capital needed. The trustees of the Malad Co-Operative Company at that time were Thomas W. Thomas, L. J. Bolingbroke and Christopher Ceaston.

In 1880 the officers of the Malad Co-Operative Company were changed and Jenkin Jones became president, and Isaac Jones became secretary. In 1884 D. L. Evans replaced secretary Isaac Jones as John L. Roberts, James P. Harrison and George Stewart became active in the company.

At this time there was considerable activity in the milling business in Malad on account of the freighting carried on through Malad Valley between Corrine, Utah, the railroad connection on the south, and Butte, Montana, which was active in mining. In about 1885 one-half interest in the flour mill was sold to Peter Hansen, who took over the management of the mill. In 1886 he bought the other half interest and continued to operate the mill until 1890.

Peter Hansen sold the entire property in 1890 to William E., John E., and Daniel E. Jones. At this time the new owners decided to rebuild and modernize the flour mill, installing all new machinery, building additional working space and changing the grinding from burr stones to the roller process. It was at this time also that the name was changed from Malad Flour Mills to Malad Roller Mills.

When the new mill was started, they found that the water power was inadequate for the larger capacity, and it was necessary to supplement the water power with a steam engine and boiler. They found this was very costly to operate.

In 1893 the business was found to be insufficient to support the three brothers, so John E. and Daniel E. sold their shares to William E. Jones and he became the sole operator. In 1904 he was able to install a new pelton type water wheel and pipe line which developed two to three times the power of the discarded overshot water wheel. He operated the flour mill until 1912 when the property was sold to the Crowther Brothers of Laketown, Utah.

Then again the mill machinery being 20 years old, and with the new type of flour milling machinery developed, it was necessary to completely replace the machinery and build more space for the operation of the new equipment. At this time also, a grain storage of 25,000 bushels capacity of wheat and warehouse was built to operate on a merchant milling basis instead of purely a grist mill.

Two years later, with the new supply of electric power coming into the valley it was possible to take care of the further requirements of the community by installing new feed mill and barley mill for steam rolling and grinding grains for feed.

As business increased it was found necessary to further expand, so in 1927 the company added an additional 40,000 bu. of wheat storage, and remodeled the flour mill as well as building the railroad to the plant, making it possible to ship flour and grain directly from the flour mill plant.

In 1940 because of increased grain production in the area, an additional 225,000 bushels of storage was built. And another 300,000 bushels of storage was built in 1948. The water reservoir was also built at this time which doubled the water power for the mill, and was of great value as water storage for irrigation purposes.

The mill has constantly been improved and capacity increased, until the products are sold in many of our Western states and in addition to the demand for family flour for domestic use, there is a big demand for bakers' flour and macaroni flour. In fact a great deal of Durum wheat is now moved in from Montana for the manufacture of the highest grade of macaroni flour.

For the past 25 years the hard wheat flour has been packed in cans for home storage and for the armed services to be consumed in all parts of the world.

Oneida County Making Comeback

PULLING yourself up by the bootstraps is an old cliché generally reserved for individuals and groups who bounce right back into the thick of things after being flat out of it. It's a pretty good way to earn the respect of others.

One might be able to call RC&D projects a bootstrap type of operation. Recently the Wood River area was authorized for RC&D operation and planning, the third such project in Idaho. Northern Idaho has had an RC&D project for some time and in 1969, Oneida County joined with two other counties in Utah to become part of an RC&D project. RC&D means "Resource Conservation and Development in a given area. It can cover a host of problems and it is generally associated with rural areas, areas which need a shot in the arm to boost their own potential.

"RC&D really doesn't do anything—the people involved do the job while RC&D is the vehicle to get the project going," says Brent Conlin, U.S. Soil Conservationist, stationed at Malad.

Essentially RCD is a collection of committees under one local administrative committee which utilizes the available local, state, federal agencies in cooperation with private groups. The committees are staffed and run by local individuals. Project headquarters are at Brigham City, Utah operated by the Soil Conservation Service. Other than the project coordinator and some assistance, there really isn't much federal overload. Local committees crank up the projects for the community if the community wants them. Then the committee may go to the appropriate state or federal agency for technical assistance. An increase in agency work might call for the hiring of additional personnel to handle the local problem, but as a rule the additional people involved can be counted on one hand.

RC&D can perform another important service. Many projects do not get off the ground because there is no recognized or legal entity to deal with. The RC & D committee can serve.

Typical Projects

What are some typical RC&D projects? A leaking ditch which needs to be relined, or a cooperative water development for livestock, drainage out of an old pioneer cemetery are examples. Or it might be more ambitious such as constructing a hospital and getting a doctor into a community. RC&D cannot take full credit for getting a new hospital and doctor, in Malad, for example, but they did participate and lent support to the project.

One project now under consideration by a RC&D committee is the possible development of a new ski and winter sports recreational area north of Malad. This involves dealing with the U.S. Forest Service, environmental groups, public health groups, motel and cafe people, and private individuals who can help finance and run the operation. Is a new ski area feasible and economically sound? The committee will probe into the matter for an answer. One thing going for the area is a new ski resort, if built, would only be about 4 miles off Interstate Highway 15.

Another advantage of RC&D is that it isn't bound by state lines. The one in Oneida County also covers Box Elder and Cache counties in Utah. Oneida County is Utah oriented, but the residents are definitely Idahoans. But they recognize the handwriting on the wall; most of their water, irrigation, recreation and domestic, drains into Utah. Most nearby towns of any consequence are in Utah. Their press and television is Utah based. Oneida County residents are as far removed from Boise as anyone in the state, but they are still very much Idahoans.

Of course there are special problems—the farmer who farms on both sides of the state boundary, or the farmer who lives in one state and farms in another. In fact many Oneida County residents live in Idaho and work in Utah.

In a sense, a reduction in payroll at the Thiokol plant in Utah gave RC&D some pushes. The three-county RC&D project actually got started in rural Western Box Elder county in Utah. One of the small community leaders, Reese D. Warburton, became concerned about dwindling populations in Western Box Elder County. Previously, many lived in the region and worked at the Thiokol complex also located in rural Box Elder county. Reduced payrolls meant that many in the area would have to seek employment elsewhere. The curtailment affected Tremonton, Brigham City, Malad and other small communities.

Warburton is generally credited with getting RC&D off the ground. Today he serves as president of the project. Originally, only Box Elder County figured in the RC&D project. In 1969, Cache and Oneida joined. Today, there is talk of Rich County in Utah and Franklin County in Idaho joining. Applications are in the preparation stage, and expansion appears likely.

Changes Necessary

"We had to make some changes," says John D. Tovey of Malad, chairman of Oneida County RC&D Agricultural committee.

"RC&D deals mainly with problems which are solvable with a minimum of cooperation," says Tovey. "Our agriculture really isn't going to change that much. This area is mostly hay, grain, corn, pasture and cattle country. Altitude, weather, growing season and irrigation water spell this out. RC&D helps us build onto what we already have," says Tovey. He does note that there is increased interest in more dairy farming which might represent a minor shift or change in the agricultural base.

Each county in the RC&D project has an executive board governed by one over-all board. The Oneida County group under their executive board is broken down into several committees: Agriculture, John Tovey, chairman; Water Resources, John V. Evans, chairman; Wildlife and Recreation, Steve Quinney, chairman; Health and Education, Phil Gillies, chairman; Industrial, Boyd Lewis, Chairman, and the Beautification and Municipal committee is presently picking a new chairman. John V. Evans and Ray Eliason serve as executive board members.

At the present time over 90 projects are under way in the three county area. Some 20 have already been completed, 16 are being installed and 61 are in the
